Gary grew up in Western Pennsylvania. Two years into his college education, his father Denny Quigley bought Kozy Rest Kampground, which as of 2011, is now Yogi Bear's Jellystone Park at Kozy Rest in Harrisville, Pa. Kozy Rest was an extremely run down park that needed a lot of work and had very little business. Gary immediately began helping his family work on fixing the place up while continuing and finishing college.

Now after 11 years in the business, Jellystone Park at Kozy Rest is ranked among the top 1% nationwide, out of over 16,000 campgrounds according to Trailer Life Directory. Kozy Rest also participates in Guest Reviews and is one of only 13 campgrounds nationwide, to receive an overall grade of "A" all 3 years the review program has been in place, out of over 4,000 participating campgrounds.

Gary has been a major part of the transformation of a run down park with very little business, to a Top Rated Park in every category by both the companies that rate them and their customers. Since his family took over in 2000, they have more than quadrupled their campnights, their store sales have increased over 600%, their campsite rental income over 180%, and their total income over 200%. Gary attends all the national conventions, regional meetings and has completed all 3 years of the National School of RV Park and Campground Management. He was also a Guest Speaker/Presenter for two seminars at the 2009 ARVC Convention.
